

Miss Underdown's Book Review

Looking After Our Planet by Katie Daynes

This is such a fun book to delve into whether you choose to read it from cover to cover or even to dip into if you just have a few minutes to spare.

As you know, Planet Earth is our home. It is such a special place, not just for humans, but for a vast number of animals, plants and other living things. However, it has come to most people's attention that we are not looking after it very well. This book shows us what is going wrong and how we can make things better.

This is such a bright and colourful book, full of snippets of information both on the page and also hidden under flaps which makes it so interesting to read.

I recommend this book to all of you, but especially for those aged 6-9 years old
